

Dr. Omran Saifi is a radiation oncology physician and an active researcher at Mayo Clinic. His main research focus lies on investigating the role of radiation therapy in hematological malignancies. Dr. Saifi is an expert in the field of radiation + CAR T, and is one of the national and international pioneers investigating the role of radiation in peri-CAR T-cell therapy. His research output has contributed significantly to the current understanding of incorporating radiation with CAR T-cell therapy.