

Dr. Mielke is Professor of Hematology and Cellular Therapy, Head of the Department of Cell Therapy and Allogeneic Stem Cell Transplantation (CAST) and the Scientific Director of the Cancer Center at the Karolinska University Hospital in Stockholm Sweden. He is member of board of directors of Karolinska's newly accredited Comprehensive Cancer Center (OECI). Dr Mielke joined the Karolinska in May 2017 from the University of Würzburg in Germany where he was Deputy Director of Internal Medicine II and Director of the Adult Allogeneic Stem Cell Transplantation Program and where he still holds a Professorship in Medicine. Dr Mielke areas of expertise are cancer immunotherapy with ATMPs, implementation of CAR T cell therapy and graft manipulation in haploidentical stem cell transplantation.